

POLICE MADE RAID YESTERDAY ON FOUR CHINESE JOINTS

Police Gather in a Bunch of Celestials and Several Small Sized Liquor Magazines

Acting on advice by the provincial license inspectors the police yesterday afternoon raided four Chinese restaurants on Jasper avenue and gathered up a bunch of anti-eyed dealers whom they charged with selling a very bad brand of tangfoot without a license. The places raided were the Victoria Restaurant, kept by Sam Song, the California, the B. C. Restaurant and the Royal.

In all the restaurants the police found beer, whiskey and other brands of liquor in liberal quantities, and in one case discovered a barrel of bus whiskey in the back shed.

One of the restaurants had a regular hop-joint in full swing on the second floor, and when the police entered the stairs they found one celestial the Quincey charging the cox of the people of India through a long wooden pipe. Down stairs a couple of women were saturating themselves with the stuff that made Mr. Wauker famous, and one woman in another box had discarded the half amounts of fashion and was taking her lunch and business dinner.

The Chinese gathered in were Sam Sing, De Jaks, Charlie Young and Wang Pook.

J. K. Macdonald acted as counsel for the first two, and E. T. Hickey acted for the second two. The case was called before Magistrate Wade last night and at the request of the police was remanded until 7.30 this evening.

The plans and resolutions will come before the city council at this evening's meeting.

GEORGE McLEOD'S BURGLAR

George McLeod, of Lundy & McLeod, hardwareman, had a burglar's excitement Sunday night which turned out a false alarm. Entering his store Mr. McLeod was surprised to find the back window broken out and indications that his store had been forcibly entered. He called the police and there was an hour of two of a still hunt for the man with the jimmy. In the morning it was learned that the faculty of the Trades Bank finding their lights turned off and finding that the cut-out was in the Lundy & McLeod store, had employed an electrician and turned a amateur burglar to the extent of entering the store and throwing in the switch.

The conference received an invitation from Regina asking them to meet there next year. The invitation was accepted.

CHARLIE HANDSCOMB GONE

Winnipeg, June 5.—Charlie Handcomb died this morning. Few in Western Canada were better known than "Charlie" Handcomb as he was called. Only in his fortieth year he was a veteran journalist. He formally was on the staff of the Winnipeg Times, edited by Geo. Ham. Shortly afterwards he joined the Free Press, with which he has been associated ever since. For a time Handcomb was a successful newspaper man in New York when he returned to Winnipeg and became editor and proprietor of Town Topics, though always keeping up his connection with the Free Press.

MAMMOTH WHOLESALE HOUSES WILL BE BUILT ON THIRD STREET

A. Macdonald, Telford Bros. of Collingwood and Hmes-Holden to Occupy New Warehouse to be Built at Once

Plans are being prepared in the office of A. H. Magoon to-day for a $10,000 wholesale warehouse to be built on Third street, construction of which is to commence as soon as possible.

The builders are Telford Bros., wholesale biscuit and confectionery manufacturers of Collingwood, Ont., and the A. Macdonald Co., wholesale grocers. The building will be occupied by Telford Bros. Ames-Holden, A. Macdonald, the Morris-Fairbanks Co. and the Gurney Co. and will be, when completed, the largest wholesale warehouses in Alberta.

The plans so far as completed show a three storey brick and stone structure, 100 feet frontage, by 150 feet depth, with a brick and stone basement. It is to be built on lots 219 and 221, just south of the corner of Peace and Third, on the east side of the street, and backing up to the side track of the C. N. R. which is to be built down the Third-Fourth street lane.

As Edmonton people are well aware, the A. Macdonald Co. already have a large wholesale warehouse on lot 202, at the corner of Third and Peace. Having found their business in Edmonton increasing to such an extent that larger premises were required, an arrangement was completed between the A. Macdonald firm and the Telford Bros. firm to build the new building in conjunction. Mr. F. F. Telford, of Collingwood, who was in the city for a few days last week, completed the arrangements while here and gave orders for the plans and for immediate construction.

The new building will adjoin the original A. Macdonald warehouse. There will be two main entrances. The one on lot 219 will be a common entrance for the A. Macdonald section of the new warehouse and for the section to be occupied by the Ames-Holden people. Each will occupy 25 feet of the ground floor, the Ames-Holden Co. taking the half to the south. Telford Bros. will occupy the ground floor and upstairs of the portion of the building covering lot 221.

The basements will be leased to the Morris-Fairbanks Co. and the Gurney Foundry Co. There will be a fire-proof wall between the two sections and in the rear there will be a common above let into the building for loading and unloading trucks and cars. The building will be furnished with electric elevators and every convenience known to the wholesale trade. The aggregate capital of the firms doing business in this new building would total away into the millions.

The A. Macdonald Co. is already known to the trade of Alberta. The Telford Bros.' firm are counted among the best manufacturers in their line in Canada and they are reaching out for the western trade. They already have a mammoth warehouse in Winnipeg and their decision to build a modern wholesale establishment in Edmonton shows what this enterprising firm thinks of Edmonton as a distributing centre.

The Ames-Holden people have wholesale warehouses in every distributing centre throughout the west and it has been known for some weeks that they intend to establish a house in Edmonton in the near future.

The Gurney Foundry Co., and the Morris-Fairbanks Co. are the leading people in their lines in Canada, having branches all over the Dominion and it is in keeping with the policy of both firms that they should be the first in their lines to establish houses in Edmonton.

The announcement of all these large and influential firms going into Third street will have a very important bearing on the real estate market as it practically defines what is to be the wholesale streets of the city and portends a day when Third and fourth will be a solid row of mammoth wholesale institutions as Princess street is in Winnipeg or Front street in Toronto.

J. H. Morris has the handling of the arrangements and the big firms will be doing business in the new premises in the shortest possible time.

OPPOSITION TRIED TO FORCE GOVERNMENT TO BREAK FAITH

ARGONAUTS ARE A BIG BUNCH

Canadian Six-Footers in the Henley
List Will be a Strong Team

London, June 5.—Foreign entries for the Henley regatta are closed. Besides W. R. West, of Philadelphia, the only trans-Atlantic competitors are the Argonauts of Toronto. In the diamond sculls for which West will compete Gaston De La Prade, of the Lower Seine, is the only other competitor. Belgians have entered for the grand challenge cup and silver goblets. John Claisher is engaged by the Argonaut eight. Claisher says that the aggregate weight is over 105 stone, one of the heaviest crews that he has ever built a boat for. Follows, who rows No. 5, is 6 foot 4 1/2 inches, and weighs 308 pounds, whilst every man stands 6 feet or more in height. The Indians will row in the style characteristic of American and Canadian crews, and in this respect it is remarkable that notwithstanding repeated defeat at Henley they insist that their rowing theory is good. They maintain that their reverses have been brought about by the superiority of the men, not the methods of rowing. The slides of the Argonaut eight that Claisher is building are four inches longer than those usually put in an English eight.

Toronto, June 5.—Geo. F. Galt, ex-captain of the Argonaut Rowing Club and founder of the Winnipeg Rowing Club, is here on his way home from England. He followed the Argonaut Henley crew in a motor boat to-day and said afterwards that in his opinion the crew was the fastest and most powerful eight ever sent to England.

Wanted Government to Violate Assurance Given by Minister of the Crown

Ottawa, June 4.—The Commons today discussed a motion of Mr. Monk to summon W. T. R. Preston to the bar because of his refusal to give the names of the North Atlantic Trading Co. To committees of the House he cited authorities to show that he had power to do this and also set by the advisability of doing it. Sir Wilfrid Laurier, after giving a brief history of the case and quoting Sir John A. Macdonald's assurance, offered to give the names to Mr. Borden or any one else who would break the word of a Minister of the Crown and officials of the Government to these citizens of Germany, Holland and Russia that the names should be kept secret. The opposition would not accept the names confidentially and Sir Wilfrid moved an amendment that "conditions surrounding the immigration operations on the continent of Europe have required the making of exceptional arrangements for the protection of immigration to Canada. That the persons who formed the Company or syndicate known as the North Atlantic Trading Co. entered into the contract with the Government of Canada on faith of an assurance that their names would not be disclosed, that such assurance was given by a responsible Minister of the Crown, that an assurance given by the Canadian Government to citizens of a foreign country is binding on the Dominion, and therefore the House refuses to violate the arrangement made."

Mr. R. L. Borden said that the statement of Lord Strathcona that the matter must be kept secret had been departed from last year when after long delay the Government had brought down the contract with the company. Could the prime minister point out any public interest in Canada or the Empire which had been injuriously affected by the publication of that document. Nothing would occur to the detriment of Canada if the names were given. Sir Wilfrid Laurier's amendment was carried by 16 to 4 against.

C. N. R. IMPROVEMENTS

General Manager James, of the C. N. R., gave the Vermilion Signal a review regarding improvements on the system, during which he said:

"Development, particularly along the main line west, has been so much faster than we anticipated that we found it necessary to make changes in the local conditions all along the line in order to keep in touch with the situation and provide for the rapid growth of business and the requirements of the country. For this reason we are doing our travelling by motor car, which is more convenient for the purpose than the ordinary coach, and we will spend some time at each point looking over the ground.

"I say that among the improvements to be made on the main line west is a $1,000 freight shed at St. Albert, a new standard station at Hinton, and stock yards at Vermilion, Vegreville, Paynton, Radisson, Maltwood, Lloydminster, Chipman, Fort Saskatchewan, Langham and various other points. Provision will also be made for another freight shed at Vermilion. One hundred new flat cars will be added to the division between St. Albert and Hinton to hasten the completion of the hauling.

"Ten heavy new passenger engines will be up here next week. They are fitted with the J.P. electric headlight, one of the best made. The engines were manufactured by the American Locomotive works of Montreal, especially for the C. N. R.

"You have probably noticed the new dining cars? They were made by the Barney & Smith Company, of Dayton, O., from our design and are the finest on the coast. They are lighted with commercial acetylene gas, made by our own plant at Winnipeg, where they are charged once in three or four months. A new feature in connection with the lighting of these cars is that each table has a separate light, apart from the monitor lights in the car.

"Henceforth the company will build elevated coal coals of 250 tons capacity at divisional points between Kamloops and Edmonton, including Vermilion. These will greatly facilitate the work of coaling engines and mean a great saving of time.

"Improvements in the water supply, too, will enable us to handle our trains to better advantage this year than last."

Arthur Nix, the young man caught at Rat Creek the other night with a stolen bicycle in his possession, came up in the police court this morning before Magistrate Cowan and was given one year at hard labor on the charge of theft.

FIVE LOBSTER FISHERS DROWN

Boat Found Floating Wrong Side up With Body on Either Side

North Sydney, N.S., June 5.—A terrible accident occurred yesterday at Cranberry near the Sydney mines, resulting in the drowning of six miners, John Fifefoot, Boory McNeil, McPhee, and three unmarried men, Daniel McMullen, J. Wilson Holmes, and Harry Wilson Holmes. About midnight four men called at McPhee's house and persuaded him to go out after lobsters. Five then went to Fifefoot's home and aroused him. Then taking a boat they set out in the direction of the traps. It was not until this morning that it was known that anything was wrong, when the fishermen found the boat upset and a body floating on each side which proved to be that of McPhee and Harry Wilson Holmes.

VERMILION DOINGS

(From the Signal)

Settlers continue to arrive in constantly increasing numbers, new buildings spring up every week, the farmers are buying heavily of the implement dealers, real estate—particularly farm land, is in good demand, a general air of bustle and confidence is everywhere noticeable, and there is no doubt that Vermilion's day is coming with a rush. Battleford, Edmonton, Red Deer, Calgary, Wetaskiwin, Saskatoon, Moose Jaw, Regina—each in season has been the Mecca of the hungry, landseeking horde, and has had its period of wondrous growth, and now it is Vermilion's turn. And Vermilion when it starts, will astonish even the older residents. The well-boring machine which has been at work in the Albert Hotel property for the past week struck water at 90 feet and there is now 25 feet of water in the well. The water apparently rests on a bed of black sand and is of first-class quality, as this water problem for Vermilion may be considered settled. Overcoroner Binacombe has now let the contract for a six-inch town well to Mr. Pearce, owner of the boring apparatus, and it has been moved to a point on First street, south, next Glick's barber shop, where the well will be sunk.

Superintendent Gillies has been authorized by the public works department to engage a number of teams to grade the road to the bridge crossing the Vermilion River on both sides of the Valley, and men are now at work removing the stones and marking cut in courses on the north side facing the town. The road will be graded not only across the lower valley and on the approaches to the bridge, but at least a commencement will be made on the grade on either hill to the general level of the country.

CALGARY WANTS A ZOO

Calgary Alberta.—The commissioners were forced to come around to discuss parks at their meeting yesterday morning. Whatever else would come up, the attraction of the two real buffalo which are coming here and the difficulty of housing them would come around again.

The commissioners were of the opinion that the proper place for the deposit of the plains was upon the property which the city possesses in the west end of the city. This spot is well adapted for that sort of thing. It has the mountain, the shelter, the sun and the Bow River.

But there is no fence about that property, and a buffalo fence costs money.

It was suggested that it might be well to fence off a portion of the Exhibition Park, but this is not a very favorable place either and the buffalo might come into violent contact with the Calgary riflemen who shoot across one end of the park.

One of the commissioners ventured the opinion that the city had a white elephant upon its hands.

There is some money in the estimates for something or other, which may be diverted for this purpose.

To fix up the park that lies in the middle of the Bow River was under consideration. To reach that park is the main thing. For a bridge at least $50,000 would be necessary.

The idea of the mayor seems to be to have the park to the extreme west end converted gradually into a zoological garden. With two buffalo, an antelope which the mayor believes that he can secure and other peacable animals which would live contentedly there and a few wild animals in cages, the park would be a great attraction.

In fact Calgary has a great heritage with its parks, with Victoria park as an athletic park and driving park. St. George's park, a picnic park. Central park and the West End park as breathing spaces, fitted up in delightful fashion and the extreme western park as a zoological park. Calgary is better supplied than any other city in Western Canada in the way of parks.

EARTHQUAKE COMPOSITIONS.

From the San Francisco Argonaut. The following are taken from some "compositions" on the earthquake and fire written by school children: "And the people ran to the banks and tried to get their money, but they couldn't get it out and the Call building is still standing."

"The Palace Hotel was blown up with dynamite."

"The tides came together and then they broke and many people were killed." Bricks fell on the people also and killed them and then they put the fire out and said San Francisco was going to be larger than ever it was."

"The people were aloud to take a bath and eat vegetables."

"San Francisco is nothing but a cemetery now. When a sick lady in the hospital felt the earth quake she jumped for joy, her storey building and she met death."

"The fire burned Hales store but a little place in front which said 'your credit is good.'"

"A big water main broke and drowned all the people in it."

"They said San Fran. was going to be destroyed and so a volcano blew up and covered the city with lather. (lava.)"

"They dynamited everybody's house up and we had another big one last night."

"Big balls of fire shot out of the ground and started fires all over."

"San Francisco was destroyed by fire. There was no water because the water front burned first."

"People were lined up for bread and water, some being killed by the earth quake."

"The fire burned so hard that people came to Napo to live."

"The Chronicle building is all hurt in the inside and people are cooking on the outside waiting for their chimneys to be inspected."

"They are working hard to get the ruins finished."

"There are 400 babies born in San Francisco since the earthquake and people all over the world are making baby clothes."

BRITISH WEST AFRICAN SOLDIERS (G. M. Barram in Toronto Globe)

Let those who grumble of life as we read it here on this continent of strenuous conditions, hearing of the glories of life in other and warmer climes, pause and consider the time that our soldiers perforce lead in various tropical countries, particularly West Africa, of which we hear something lately in connection with the massacre of British officers and men. This is of course far removed from the present scenes of disturbance in Nalal.

Imagine the hardships to be undergone in marching day after day through fever-laden swamps, and dry sandy tracts where the sun's blazing down mercilessly with all its tropical force; always on the qui vive for the enemy, who always child of the earth, has no difficulty in concealing himself in the thick undergrowth, lying for hours stealthily watching the approach of the troops sent to punish him for his blood-thirsty depredations. Naturally in a country such as this, where the rainy season is of such long duration, expeditions into the interior can only be undertaken between the months of December and May, which is the dry season.

THE OTHER SIDE

The Mail and Empire labors at length to prove that the British embargo on Canadian cattle is due to the lack of sufficient quarantine regulations governing the importation of American cattle into Canada but puts this argument out of business by admitting that the embargo was in force under the former regulations. As a matter of fact the assumption is a measure for preventing the importation of diseased cattle than an excuse to prevent Canadian cattle from competing with home grown stock in the British markets. The chargin of the Mail and Empire is that it confronts the reverse side of a protective policy.

SETTLE THE POINT

The city council might well take up and settle at tonight's meeting the point at issue when the regular session adjourned a week since. The particular incident has been closed apparently on the responsibility of the commissioners by the payment of the men whose wages had been withheld. But the general question involved is still open, and while it remains open will constitute a menace to the prosecution of public work. The city has some enormous public works on the program, works too important to be delayed by unnecessary cutthroats between the commissioners and the engineer over questions of whether or not the engineer has power to engage the men to complete them. Either the instructions to undertake specific works should be accompanied in all cases by an explicit provision as to who has the power to engage the workmen or a general ruling should be made concerning all cases in which it is likely to be necessary to add temporarily to the city's payroll. The council might well reserve either to itself or to the commissioner the final approval of appointments to the permanent staff. If it is considered wise to make a difference between the methods of engaging temporary and permanent employees then there should be a very clear understanding as to what constitutes the distinction between these classes.

THE TARIFF FOR REVENUE

In the debate on the budget a few days since Mr. Cockshutt, member for Brandon, Ontario, replied to the Minister of Customs, assailing the present tariff on the ground that it was distinctively a revenue producing tariff and arguing that it should be abolished and replaced by a tariff which would not produce revenue. "The honorable gentleman," said Mr. Cockshutt, "stands for a tariff that is going to bring in a large revenue to this country. He fixes his tariff at such a rate that goods are imported and there is where the gravity of the charge lies; they should not be imported, but the honorable gentleman fixes the tariff so that they will come in and there is one of the greatest reasons why they have not grappled with the tariff now. If we had a proper tariff, the revenue would fall and all it should and it cannot fall too soon."

The remarks of Mr. Cockshutt play havoc with the criticisms of some of his friends that the Government had not adopted a tariff for revenue. According to Mr. Cockshutt the original aim in the present tariff is that it is calculated to produce revenue and the final proof of its iniquity the fact that it does produce revenue. To Mr. Cockshutt this is a regrettable state of affairs and should be terminated by a tariff which would abolish the revenue by preventing Canadian people making purchases abroad. Two of the details which Mr. Cockshutt overlooked are of some importance. If the Canadian Government relinquish this revenue at the request of the Canadian manufacturers would the manufacturers make good the revenue to the Government? And if the Canadian people gave up the privilege of purchasing manufactures abroad, would the Canadian manufacturers guarantee to supply these goods at the present market prices?

These queries follow naturally on the request that the Government give up its present revenue and the people their present privilege. They are queries which Mr. Cockshutt, as one of the leading manufacturers of Canada should be in a position to answer. But he did not answer them. That he did not do so is sufficient assurance that he was not prepared to answer them in a manner satisfactory to the Canadian Government or to the Canadian people. His theory, therefore, is that the Canadian Government should surrender its greatest source of revenue; the Canadian people should give up a privilege which they would not exercise if it were not of enormous advantage to them; and that those who request the change should be required to give no assurance that the revenue would be replaced or that the monopoly created by the sacrifice of the privilege would not be abused. Until there is a radical change in the moral character of humanity the scheme would work out by the Government having to hunt for its revenue while the monopoly fleeced the people.

A Bulletin on the Bacon Hog

An exhaustive bulletin on the production of hogs in Canada for the British bacon trade is ready for distribution from the office of the Live Stock Commissioner at Ottawa. It is divided into fourteen parts, each dealing with a section of the bacon industry under the following heads: Introduction; The Standard Bacon Type; Undesirable Hogs for Bacon Production; Breeds and Breeding; Care of Breeding Animals; Rearing and Finishing; Cost of Gain at Different Stages of Growth; Soft Bacon; Foods; Preparation of Food; Composition of Foods used in Swine Feeding; Value of Hog Manure; Destruction Table; The present and future of the Canadian Bacon Hog Industry.

Besides the practical experience of the Live Stock Commissioner and his staff, every available source of information within reach was drawn upon in securing data for the bulletin. After describing the type and breeds of hogs suitable for the bacon trade and discussing the best and most economical methods of rearing and feeding, the bulletin points out that the bacon industry of Canada, worth some thirteen millions, is worthy of the earnest support of the farmers of Canada. In order to encourage and assist this valuable trade this bulletin has been prepared with great care and exactness as to teaching. It is helpfully illustrated by half tone cuts of swine of different pure breeds, correct and incorrect types of hogs. Ideal and faulty sides of bacon, backfat planes and descriptions of the movable pen which is becoming very popular. The bulletin No. 10 of the Live Stock Branch. Copies may be secured free by application to the Live Stock Commissioner, Ottawa.

ATHABASCA LANDING.

Athabasca Landing, June 1.—A. H. Erick, M.P., who left Edmonton on May 2nd, pulled out of Athabasca Landing on the 27th, accompanied by J. B. St. Cyr, D.S.L., R. A. Duffie, R.M.S., and Robert Caldwell, L.M.S. A few miles above the Landing the party ran on a reef and the mast went by the board, but the staunch craft pulled through without a scratch. The party reached Moore Portage on the 29th.

Fenton's survey party are camped at Bell Hill. The sunshine and dry weather is a welcome change after the late wet spell and is much appreciated by those hitting the trail at the present time. The water in the river has risen considerably and navigation is correspondingly improved.

STORIES OF GABRIEL DUMONT.

The death of Gabriel Dumont removes one of the central figures of the Canadian Northwest rebellion of 1885, says the Free Press. To him Major-General Middleton attributed the despatching of the bullet which went through the general's hat at Fish Creek, where Dumont commanded the rebels, and was foiled in a crafty scheme to capture the general and hold him as hostage. Dumont was also active at Batoche.

The importance attached to Gabriel Dumont by Sir Frederick Middleton is shown in a report from the general to the war department, May 12, 1885, as a postscript to the report of the Fish Creek engagement.

"I find from the papers captured at Batoche yesterday that the number of rebels at Fish Creek was 230, under Gabriel Dumont; that they had intended to let me enter the ravine or creek and then destroy the bridge, using me as a prisoner and holding me as a hostage to assist them in making terms with the government at Ottawa. Their scheme was defeated by my having my scouts so far in advance, which obliged them to fire on them, and thus disclosed their position."

Major Boulton in his book tells of how Riel, then in banishment in Montana, was sought by the half breeds of Saskatchewan. Gabriel Dumont was one of the four who went to Montana to persuade him to come to Saskatchewan. Riel accompanied Dumont on his return to Canada. Dumont presided, sitting on a stump keg, when at a session of Riel's provisional government in March 1885, and McKay was put on trial for treason to the half-breeds, who were rebelling. This was just before the proposed attack on Fort Carlton.

Riel apologized to McKay but at Fort Carlton McKay chose to accompany the police to remove stores from Mitchell's stores to Duck Lake. Gabriel Dumont headed a party which met them and Dumont threatened to blow out McKay's brains, firing over his head. Then the rebels forced the police party to return to Fort Carlton. The Duck Lake fight which followed opened up real hostilities. After the capture of Riel, Gabriel Dumont and his companion Dumas fled to the States. In a week they were arrested south of the boundary and 350 miles away from the scene of the engagement. They were released by the American authorities, no application having been made for their retention.

Dumont did not come very far away from robbing the Northwest field force of its leader, Gen. Sir Frederick Middleton, on May Day, 1885.

In his official report to the war department, dated Fish Creek, May 1, 1885, the commander, after describing his assignment of the force and encountering the enemy, says: "In this former report I mentioned a small party of the rebels made a stand in what we found afterwards to be some carefully constructed rifle pits. These men were evidently their best shots—Gabriel Dumont being among them, but were, so to speak, caught in a trap." The commander goes on to say that there was every indication of the rebels anticipating success, as 55 of their horses tied up in this ravine were killed.

Further down, Sir Frederick says: "To return to the action of the left flank—on recrossing to them I received a bullet through my fur cap from one of the men in the rifle pits, who had made several attempts to hit me before, and who I have reason to believe was Gabriel Dumont himself, and who, a few minutes after, being obliged to cross with my A. D. C., Capt. Wise, shot from the same place, his horse, and threw him."

Capt. Wise, the commander's report says, was shot in the foot shortly afterwards, which bears out the statements of the Toronto members of the field force, that Dumont, when he started shooting at a man, kept at it, and scored several of the tragic successes from the rebel standpoint." Major Boulton, of the famous Boulton's Scouts, in his history of the Northwest rebellion, thus mentions Dumont in connection with the Fish Creek engagement:

"About this time we saw forty or fifty men, some of whom were mounted, retreating up the ravine, about half a mile away. We afterwards learned that they were under the command of Gabriel Dumont, who graphically described his position at this time in his official report of the battle he made to Riel, which we found among the rebel chief's papers on his last retreat after the capture of Batoche. He therein stated that among there was necessity for reinforcements, he himself being duty-bound to Batoche to secure them, and left the scene of the battle about 10 o'clock on the morning of the fight. Some of the 96th opened fire on Dumont's party with their Martini-Henry rifles, and Capt. Drury directed his gun on a house to which they retired, about 1500 yards off, and set it on fire with the second shot."

EMBALMED DEER.

Kansas City, June 5.—General Miles, last night said: "The misadventure about packing house products now being exploited are no news to me. Had the matter been taken up earlier thousands of lives would have been saved. I believe that three thousand soldiers lost their lives because of adulterated, impure and poisonous meats. There is no way of estimating the number of soldiers whose health was ruined by eating impure food."

POSSIBILITIES OF CANADIAN TRADE WITH THE ORIENT

Consul General Urges the Present as an Opportune Time for Pushing Business in Japanese Markets

Consul-General Nossé, of Japan, is touring the west at present, urging Canadians to a greater activity in capturing the Japanese market for Canadian products. In an interview with the Toronto Globe Mr. Nossé outlined the possibilities of developing this trade.

TARIFF NOW FAVORABLE.

"I believe," said the Japanese consul, "that there never was a time when the possibilities of trade between two countries were more favorable than is the case at present between Canada and Japan. To begin with the attitude of Great Britain toward Japan in her recent war, and what is known as the Anglo-Japanese alliance, have given the people of Japan a very friendly feeling towards Great Britain and her colonies. Through being part of the British Empire, Canada has, within the present year, been placed on the same footing in the matter of trade with Japan as Great Britain and the United States. Heretofore goods going to Japan from Canada have been subject to a heavy customs duty, while goods from the United States were admitted in accordance with the rates fixed for most favored nations. Besides this, the recent visit of Prince Arthur to Japan as the representative of King Edward to convey to the Emperor of Japan the Order of the Garter, has been much appreciated by the Japanese people. The reception given to Prince Arthur on the occasion of his visit to Japan has been unparalleled in the history of the country. In fact his visit partook of the nature of a national fête. The Japanese papers have had lengthy accounts of the trip of Prince Arthur through Canada on his way back to England, and all this has helped to make Canada better known in Japan."

AN EXHIBITION THAT PAID.

"But there are things which have been done by the Government of Canada during recent years which have also caused the Japanese to look with great favor upon Canadians, and which have prepared the way for future trade. As you know, the Hon. Sydney Fisher, Minister of Agriculture, visited Japan as a representative of the Canadian Government at the great national exhibition held at Osaka in 1903. To Mr. Fisher is due the credit of having taught the Japanese the value of Canadian wheat and its bread-winning qualities. In the Canadian exhibit which Mr. Fisher's department controlled at the exhibition flour from Manitoba hard wheat was made into bread. At the same time bread was made from flour which came from the United States, and it was demonstrated openly that a given amount of Canadian flour was capable of producing a larger amount of bread, and bread of a finer quality."

"The bread was given away by the Government and distributed freely among the people. At the time, it seemed to me that it would have been a wise thing if the Government of Canada had started similar exhibitions in different parts of Japan. I think that today the Government could not do a better thing for the future trade of Canada than to start in different parts of Japan, particularly in the large cities, bakeries where bread made from Canadian wheat could be baked and distributed to the people at net cost."

BETTER, BUT NOT WELL KNOWN.
"For twenty-five years past, the Japanese have been buying bread in Japan made out of wheat which has come from the United States, and at the present time they use a large quantity of bread manufactured from American winter wheat from the States of Oregon and Washington. The Canadian wheat is superior to this, but it would require a little time to educate the Japanese to the use of Canadian wheat and I think that some aggressive measures on the part of the Canadian Government such as I have suggested, would be necessary in this connection, at least for a few years. Once the quality of Canadian wheat flour became known in Japan there is sure to be a continuous demand for the Canadian product, and this demand will grow every year."

"Since the recent famine in Japan the Canadian Government has, as you know, sent a contribution towards the famine fund 500 tons of Manitoba and Northwest flour. The flour is at the present time in Japan, and is being made into bread there. The Government could not have done anything which could better have won the goodwill of the Japanese people towards Canada. Looked at in the light of an advertisement it will be worth millions of dollars to this country. This quantity of flour should bring to at least half a million people in that part of the country the first bread they have ever tasted, and when I think of the way in which the gift will be appreciated by the Japanese people I cannot help marvelling at the indifference of the wheat-growers and mill-owners of Canada to their own best interest. In not sending to Japan their representatives, who could be on the spot, when the flour is distributed, to tell the people where it came from, and where future orders might be secured. Why should the Canadian business men close such a favorable opportunity to get such a firm foot-hold in Japanese trade?"

A GREAT MARKET WAITS
"I know so well the great demand there is in Japan at the present time and which will increase year by year, for the foodstuffs of this continent, that I feel that the business man who are interested in the production or sale of any of the products which this country has and which Japan is likely to need, could not go to too great an expense in sending their agents to Japan and in beginning a business there just as they have started trade in other parts of the world. I suppose it is because Canadian producers are not able to supply the present demand from other parts of the world, that they are indifferent to the opportunities in Japan. They should however, look ahead and see what the future has in store."

"Perhaps if the business men are not shrewd enough the railway corporations who are always looking out for future trade will see the importance of doing something in this direction themselves. The Grand Trunk Pacific

POSSIBILITIES OF CANADIAN TRADE WITH THE ORIENT

Railway will have a great advantage in the matter of trade with Japan, over any of the other railways on the continent because the route from its terminus to Yokohama, say, will be so much shorter than the route from any other ocean ports on the Pacific coast. As a matter of fact the city of Seattle has taken away a large part of the trade from San Francisco, simply because it is much nearer to Japan. Why should not the city of Vancouver and the new city of Prince Rupert, in their turn displace the city of Seattle as great shipping ports to the Orient?

THE TIME FOR ACTION NOW
"My own feeling is that this trade is a matter of much importance to the future of Canada that unless business men or railway corporations are prepared to take the matter up the Government should not wait without doing something itself. This is a critical time. If Canada gets a foothold in Japan today she will be secure in Japanese markets for all time in the future, but if she loses the opportunity of getting a foothold today the United States may get so far ahead that when Canada is able to fill the demand from other places and begins to look about for new markets, it will then be too late to get the market in Japan."

agricultural implements, windmills and paper. These I believe are only the beginnings of what will be a very important trade in manufactured goods. As an evidence of the faith which I have in the future trade between Toronto and Japan, I anticipate that before long the Japanese Government will establish a vice consulate in Toronto.

"Once the trade between Canada and Japan is started I think it may be depended upon to look after itself. In the meantime, however, the Canadian people should see that no other country gets ahead of Canada by neglecting this market or failing to do everything in their power to make the trade as considerable as can be."

SENTENCED FOR BIGAMY

Tacoma, June 2.—J. W. Vivian Dickie, first English, then Canadian, and more recently a sojourner in the States, self-styled actor, was arraigned before Judge Snell, in the criminal division of the superior court yesterday on the charge of bigamy. He received a sentence of ninety days in the county jail and politely thanked the court for his leniency.

Dickie pleaded guilty to marrying two women, but urged by his attorney John E. Gallagher, that it was only through misconception of the law that he transgressed. The young son vivand who admitted to Detective D. O. Smith that he is a remittance man, a few years ago married Violet Clara Shary, at Ponoka, Alberta, N. W. T. Dickie now says he was under age when this marriage was performed and pleaded to the court that he believed he was legally free after twelve months' separation from the woman. He married Carrie McNight of Seattle in this city November 26, 1905. It is stated that Dickie and the second wife went to Seattle and for a time lived with a brother of the late Mrs. Dickie. Carrie McNight Dickie is a vaudeville actress, and after a season in Seattle she took her boy husband to Missoula, Mont.

Walter D. McNight, of 129 east Fifty-seventh street, Seattle, a brother of the actress came to Tacoma in December and swore out a warrant before Police Judge Linn, accusing Dickie of bigamy. He has communicated with the first wife in Canada, and he claimed she was willing to prosecute Dickie.

The police found the young man at Missoula and Detective Smith brought him back here. He has been in jail a hundred days during which time his attorney has been gathering evidence tending to show that the prosecution was inspired by a personal dislike to the young man on the part of the members of the family of his second wife. Mrs. Dickie No. 2 has now wavered in her loyalty to the man, and asserted time and again that she did not wish to prosecute him.

Violet Clara Shary Dickie was also loath to press the case. When brought before Judge Snell yesterday morning Attorney Gallagher stated to the court that Dickie had been ignorant of the laws of this country governing divorce, and produced letters showing that Carrie McNight had known that Dickie's first wife was living when she married him here, but that she, too, believed the time of separation operated as a divorce under English law.

Judge Snell to into consideration the fact that the women involved were not disposed to prosecute Dickie and that while Carrie McNight was the person mostly wronged by the defendant, she refused to testify against him. He then sentenced the prisoner to 90 days in the county jail.

His attorney said yesterday that he will bring suit for divorce for Dickie against the first wife, and that after a decree is granted, Dickie will legally marry Carrie McNight.

SATISFACTORY TERMINALS.

The Montreal Herald of Monday, has the following:
"The official announcement is made by Mr. F. W. Morse, vice-president and general manager of the Grand Trunk Pacific, who returned from Winnipeg on Saturday, that negotiations have been completed and an arrangement made by the Grand Trunk Pacific national transcontinental railway and the Canadian Northern for the joint use of the terminals of the Canadian Northern at the Prairie capital.

"This means that there will be a large and imposing union depot, and that two systems—for in view of the fact that the national transcontinental is to be operated by the Grand Trunk Pacific they may be treated as one concern for operating purposes—will share the very excellent terminal facilities that the Canadian Northern have secured in Main street. It is understood that the terminal authority will be a board upon which the two companies and the government will be represented."

"Mr. Morse regards the arrangement as most satisfactory, both as regards the interests of the undertaking concerned and of the public."

"So far as the work in connection with the construction of the line is concerned, Mr. Morse expressed himself well satisfied with the progress made."

"The surveys have been carried on under exceptional conditions, both as regards the government section in New Ontario and the company's own section in the Pacific province, but in spite of all obstacles the vice president is confident that important sections will be in operation in advance of the time stipulated for its completion."

G. T. P. MOUNTAIN SECTION.

Toronto, May 29.—Mr. C. M. Hays, second vice-president and general manager of the Grand Trunk Pacific, in a statement made to-night, said that the policy of the G.T.P. in respect to the construction of the Pacific section of the road depended on the results of surveys now being made.

"We cannot say just how or when construction will commence," he said, when asked whether the road would be built eastward from the Pacific coast. "The company has several survey parties working in the Rocky mountains locating the best possible route with the most favorable grades. Until these surveys have been completed, reports are made, and we decide on a route, we cannot begin construction." Mr. Hays further explained that it would be the policy of the company to build from the coast eastward or from the eastern foothills of the Rockies westward, as seemed most advisable when the surveys are in, but until they were completed the company was not in a position to announce where or just when the work would start.

"Do you still hope to have the road sufficiently far advanced between Winnipeg and the mountains to engage in moving the wheat crop of the Northwest in 1907?" he was asked.

"Yes," was the reply. "I am satisfied with the way in which our work is progressing and we hope to be in a position to move some of the crop."

NO LAW IN THE CASE.

Washington, June 3.—The United States will not enter an international pact for the prohibition of anarchy. The country has no national police to enforce it. Under existing law the immigration officials attempt to exclude anarchists attempting to land, but under no existing law could anarchists be apprehended for plotting assassination of foreign rulers.

TRANSFORMING THE WILDERNESS

Saskatoon, May 28.—Mr. G. E. Foeter and some of the other arm chair critics of the immigration policy of the Dominion Government, should take a trip over the long trail into the Gozce lake and Eagle creek districts. They would be cured of their scepticism. As a mere detail of that policy they would see a region embracing thousands of square miles, which previous to three years ago was a desolation, but which is now teeming with settlers. I have just returned to Saskatoon from a journey through these counties, and the transformation which has been wrought is almost magical. It is questionable if in the world's history such a large area of land has been so thickly peopled in such a brief period of time. It is no exaggeration to say that when one gets free of the buffy country immediately to the west of Saskatoon there is no point on the trail winding out over the vast plains for one hundred and fifty miles where one cannot count from twelve to twenty farmsteads dotting the landscape. The trail itself is worn deep and hard with traffic, and as far as the eye can reach these days one can discern the long procession of teams, waggon and cattle streaming out over the plain. The stopping places which have sprung up along the route throng at night with interesting guests. The man from down east, the lean bronzed Yankee of all nationalities, the anxious German, the canny Scot and happy-go-lucky Englishman, all seek well-earned rest together. In the stable even the most fractious of the horses is gentle, the spirit worn down by the long trail, while outside the weary oxen chew the cud and sob and sigh over the hardships of pioneering.

And what a unique land these people are thronging to. From the hands of nature it is ready for the plow, and there are few spots where one could not draw a ten-mile furrow without encountering twig or stone, or any obstacle whatever. It is indeed a veritable farmer's paradise.

Railway construction will be a sine cure out in that region. Little or no grading will be necessary in most places and the ties will simply require to be laid for miles at a stretch upon the sod. There is never a feeling of loneliness now out on the plains for homestead buildings stand so close that one is surrounded on all hands with evidence of human fellowship even to a more marked degree than in some of the older settled districts in the west.

It is out in those fresh occupied regions that one realizes something of the real value of the immigration policy of the government. One is out of the dry domain of figures and statistics and up against the practical result of the wonderful policy which is rapidly making the wilderness to blossom as the rose.

WHITFORD ITEMS

Whitford, Alta. May 26.—Several hundred head of fat steers are soon to be driven from this vicinity and the country a little further east, to Vegreville there to be entrained and shipped. The ranchers deliver the cattle themselves. Some of these gentlemen are W. J. Cinnamon, Hueston Bros., S. Richardson, P. Boan, G. Johnston, J. Richardson, T. Watt, Poyer, and C. Monkman.

A large number of oxen have also been bought here from the Russians and shipped to Ledyardville and other points. Messrs. Gidenslatre, Robinson and Miller shipped a number of carloads. Hueston Bros. took two carloads to Battleford.

The crops in general promise well, being away ahead of this time last year. There is plenty of moisture.

Jonathan Batty of Saddle Lake, has been promoted from the position of farm-instructor to the Indians there to be Indian agent.

T. Hibcock of Whitford has been appointed farm instructor. Geo. Mann, previous agent, moves to take the same position at Bears Hills reserve.

Mr. Fletcher, Government supervisor of public schools among the Russian population is kept busy.

The people of Dukovina S. D. No. 1162, are at present taking the lead among the Russians for progressiveness in educational matters. They have erected a neat log school house with a ceiling room about 11x23 1/2. The porch and outbuildings are larger than the ordinary in rural districts. The interior of the school room is carpeted, walled, and fitted with native spruce. A sufficient supply of modern school desks and a handsome teachers' desk and chair have been provided. At present a neat fence is being built and a well dug. Next winter the trustees intend to erect a house and a stable for their teacher's accommodation. The trustees, Messrs. Kocher, Martinus and Kapitak, show most commendable interest and effectiveness in their management of school affairs.

Mr. Kapitak had the contract for the building. His work is certainly a credit to himself. The result of the trustees work in general is a surpassing of the school equipment of a good many school districts in Alberta where there are no very recent immigrants. The names of twenty-five children are on the school register. The attendance is good both in regularity and punctuality. The average mentality of the children is also very good.

Quite a number of Whitford people drove to Andrew to spend the 24th where an interesting program of sports was carried out.

Whitford has a singing school. The teachers are Mrs. W. J. Cinnamon, Mrs. R. Hueston and Miss Purdie.

A son of Mr. Kocher was recently taken to Dr. Lawford's home at Pikan to remain there for a time under the doctor's direct and constant medical care. The boy was suffering from a serious ailment but after an operation he made a pleasing and rapid recovery.

—At a special meeting of "Beaver House" chapter of the Imperial Order of the Daughters of the Empire, held on June 4th, a scheme of work which it is hoped will be welcomed and supported by the ladies of Edmonton and vicinity, was formulated. Realizing the difficulty of securing competent domestic service, "Beaver House" chapter is organizing a scheme for bringing out servants from the O. G. Order. Several of the members of the order are going east and have undertaken to interview the immigration and railway authorities.

—Medicine Hat News: Mr. James McCaig, assistant principal of the Alberta Normal School, was in the Hat on Monday and Tuesday in connection with the Teachers' Institute which was in session on the days mentioned. Mr. McCaig has large sheep raising interests in the province and his name is quite as well known among the sheep men as it is in educational circles. The articles which appear over his name in stock journals carry no inconsiderable weight and as his wool forecast last May was 16 cents with a probability of 17, local sheepmen will be interested in hearing that he puts the price of wool this year at 18c. as a conservative estimate and does not think 20 cents outside the range of possibilities.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

C. P. R. EDMONTON SERVICE

Editor Bulletin: Will the council and people of Edmonton extend the 'good hand' to a railway company whose sole object seems to be to protect their tracks just far enough into the city to parasite-like extract the money and make a quick get-away. Incidentally a choice residential district is seriously injured.

Surely this young giant of a city, pulsating with business activities in a position to dictate terms even to the C. P. R. Edmontonites have the reputation of knowing what they want and acting very decisively. Then why not take the bull by the horns in this matter and have the council or railway commission promptly end the project of the C. P. R. projecting freight yards in the heart of the city and at right angles to the C. N. P. yards and closing two of our future best avenues, Athabasca and Peace and compelling the strings of farm teams which come in from the west along Mackenzie avenue, (which they close also) to go round by Jasper avenue.

Now is the time to prevent this outrage and to inform the C. P. R. officials that if they want to do business with the city they must discard selfishness and walk right in and see us, in other words they must come to Edmonton. It's not for their ha'h they are building a high level bridge, and barely entering the city; rather it will be even now a very profitable investment; and Edmonton should expect and demand their terminals placed here and not in Strathcona. C. P. R. officials should recognize this as bare justice to the coming great city, and the capital of Alberta. Why not make this clear to the railway company right now, then if they persist, it will be in time to act harmoniously together in the future in giving this company the 'Go' go-by." We will have several other railways whose yards, etc., will be here and with whom it will be a pleasure to do business.

CITIZEN.

HIGH PRICED QUOTIS

A game of quoits will take place at the Senate hotel on Thursday evening between a couple of local champions for $100 a side. Considerable interest is being taken in the match.

MEETING NOT WELL ATTENDED

There was a small attendance at the public meeting in the city hall yesterday afternoon to discuss the bridge proposition. The following resolution moved by ex-Mayor Mackenzie and J. B. Walker, was adopted: "That inasmuch as this meeting is too small and not a general representative meeting of the citizens of Edmonton, that we postpone action in this matter until some future date." The meeting accordingly adjourned.
